Variety:Pinot Noir

Scheduled for an August 2025 release, the 2024 White Pinot Noir was crushed and immediately taken off the skins, settled and then barrel-fermented in neutral oak. Bâtonnage took place during malolactic fermentation but not afterwards. Hints of crushed stone and lime join stone fruit on the nose, while the medium-bodied palate boasts a silky mouthfeel, then a long, crisp finish. I've deliberately given it a short drinking window, but it could surprise.
